

zlibHeader

The diagram illustrates the structure of a zlib header, which is composed of three distinct sections stacked vertically. The top section is labeled 'zlibHeader'. The middle and bottom sections are unlabeled but represent the 'Reserved' and 'Data' fields, respectively, as per the zlib specification. All three sections are represented by light gray rectangles with black outlines.